7. [redacted] Met with Ralph Preston, House Appropriations Committee, who told me he had passed the briefing note on [redacted] 25X1 to Representative John Rhodes (R., Ariz.) with the request that it be returned as soon as he has reviewed it. Preston advised him that an appropriate note for his use will be prepared if it's desired. Preston told me in passing that the transcript of Mr. Colby's briefing on the Watergate is out to the Committee members for their individual review and correction before transmission to the Ervin Select Committee for their review.

I also reviewed with Preston the briefing note for Representative Robert Sikes (D., Fla.) on the 1115th Military Airlift Squadron and brought him up-to-date on several items of current intelligence information.

8. [redacted] Accompanied [redacted] to a meeting with Dr. John Brady, House Foreign Affairs Committee staff, to update the information previously provided concerning illicit foreign narcotics traffic. By present considerations Dr. Brady will be the principal staff assistant for the newly formed two-member ad hoc Committee on narcotics, of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

9. [redacted] Jim Woolsey, General Counsel, Senate Armed Services Committee, talked to [redacted] and me questioning the necessity for deleting from the transcripts of Agency witnesses regarding the Watergate matter all references to [redacted]

25X6

He argued that it was difficult to delete these references since it couldn't be shown that they damaged the national security. We pointed out that to make any such reference public, especially when top White House officials were quoted as referring to the necessity for protecting Agency operations [redacted] was bound to raise hackles [redacted] and could be an irritant to [redacted] American relations. [redacted] pointed out that tactically such operations were protected by the 1947 Act.
